JOHN B. BOY TALKS
...about sugar problems

Baby it's cold outside!

If you've been turning up the electric blanket to high the past few nights—you've had good reason. It's been cold.

Temperatures plummeted to below 40 degrees both Monday and Tuesday nights, according to C.R. Wilcoxon, official weather observer at the Everglades Experiment Station.

"The official temperature Tuesday night was 40 degrees, but I read one ground level thermometer which said 35," Wilcoxon said Wednesday.

"Official temperature for Monday night was 40 degrees also." While they came a week earlier, the cold temperatures did not come close to matching the first winter weather of last year.

"We had frost on both the 12th and 18th last year," said Wilcoxon. "The official temperature then was 32, but we had a ground level reading of 27."

The first two cold snaps of 1973 pretty well wiped out the young vegetable crop. But while some scattered light frost has been reported the last two nights, the damage to the young crop has been minimal if any.

"Anything that's real young, just been planted, is highly susceptible to cold," Wilcoxon said. "It's just like a young child or animal. If the crop has just stuck its head up out of the ground it hasn't had time to pick up strength."

While a hard cold snap such as the one in 1973 is not forecast for the Glades area, continuing cool weather in the low 40's should hover over Belle Glade through Wednesday and today. Temperatures are predicted to moderate over the weekend.

South Bay sewer rates may go up

With South Bay sewers a subject of impending legal action and multiple problems besieging the city's year-old sewer system, rates may be hiked a dollar a month for homes and 25 per cent for businesses.

City Clerk Virginia Walker read a letter to the city commission Tuesday night which had been sent by the Farm Home Administration saying it will be necessary to pass the rate hikes unless outside funds are available.

Farm Home Administration District Director Robert L. Jones said the city is required to bond the amount of $7,450 until $74,000 is accumulated.

The newly elected president of the Florida Sugar Cane League said the sugar industry of the Glades is moving into some uncertain times.

"We're moving into a new era with the expiration of the Sugar Act," John B. Boy, who is also president of the U.S. Sugar Corp., headquartered in Clewiston, said this week.

Boy said the removal of the act, which has governed the U.S. Department of Agriculture's controls over the sugar industry since the 1930's, and the surge of sugar prices over the past year will take up a lot of the planning time of the industry.

"At the moment," he said, "there is a shortage of sugar world-wide for several reasons; primarily because the rate of consumption has outstripped the world production."

"It seems just about every sugar producing area in the world," Boy said, "has had weather problems at the same time and that accounts for the spectacular rise in the price of sugar."

Boy noted, however, that the world market, and the U.S. market, for raw sugar has been dropping over the past few days.

almost as rapidly as the initial rise was.

"The prices are high now," he said, "but they were too low for too long. Our costs have gone up too. Hopefully, the price will drop back down to a reasonable level in the near future."

Boy said the prices probably won't drop back to the level of more than a year ago, when the rise began but he said the industry would like to see the prices drop again to the point the industry and consumers could live with them.

He said the high prices have created an unstable situation in which the industry can't know how far ahead to plan and said he doesn't see any major expansion in the near future by anyone in the Glades except the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, which is already in an expansion program begun before the price increases began and before the sugar act was lifted.

"The problem is," Boy said, "that just about every mill in the Glades is already working at peak production. Except for minor modifications, about the only expansion that could be made would be to build a new mill or another new unit."

To build a new unit, such as the cooperative is doing, Boy said, would cost almost, though not quite, as much as building a new mill.

"We spent $15 million building Boyan (sugar mill) in 1967," Boy said, "and it's been estimated it would cost $60 million to build it today."

Boy said he doesn't think it would be practical for the federal government to attempt to put a ceiling on sugar prices because of the country imports 80 per cent of the sugar consumed each year.

"If Congress put a ceiling on the price of sugar," he said, "the foreign importers would just take their sugar elsewhere."

He said he wasn't sure the Sugar Act, if enforced as it formerly was, could have kept down the price, "when there's an actual physical shortage," but he said the act has been a stabilizing influence.

Boy said the industry, which fought for keeping the Sugar Act before it was finally killed in Congress, is making no plans now to push for another act but he feels controls of some sort will probably be enacted some time in the future.

Boy said the world market, which the United States is now on, has traditionally featured unstable prices and he doesn't think the American consumer will sit still for a continuous rise and fall in the price of sugar.

He said part of the Sugar Act, dealing with quotas of acreage the government would allow sugar producers to plant and the sugar producers could sell, has effectively been removed for two years.

He said there has been no restriction on acreage for two years and while the quota on production was only lifted last year, it may as well have been two years ago because the industry couldn't meet the quota then.

Turning to another area, Boy said all the mills in the area expect to have stack emissions under unit in operation by the 1975 grinding season but there have been delays on getting parts.

He said the mills not equipped by next year's season won't be equipped simply because they couldn't get the units from the manufacturers.

He predicted another less-than-satisfactory crop this year, following last year's short crop, because of more bad weather for growing this summer.

Boy was elected to the post of president of the league, replacing George Wedgworth who held the position for the past two years.

Other officers named were Arthur Kirstein III of the Gulf and Western Okesanta Sugar Mill as first vice president; Atlantic Sugar President S.N. Knight Sr. as second vice president; Osceola Sugar President Alfonso Fanjul Sr. as third vice president; the league's Washington representative, Horace D. Godfrey, as fourth vice president.

The fifth vice president and general manager is Nelson Fairbanks, who has held that post since the formation of the league in 1966; H.T. Vaughn of USSU is secretary-treasurer and League attorney Atwood Dunwoode is the assistant secretary-treasurer.

Other board members are Robert D. Apelgren, Alfonso Fanjul Jr., Doyle M. Jones, Billy Rogers, George H. Salley, O.H. Sheppard, Fred C. Sikes, Fritz Stein, S.K. Swayne, Roy Vandegrift Jr. and George Wedgworth.

Fairbanks said the league has also hired a new public relations man, who began work with the league Monday. He said Don Walsh was formerly director of public information for GAC Corp. in Miami and is also a former Miami Herald employee.

Parade pedal power!

Getting ready for the Christmas parade at 2 p.m. Saturday are Mary Lynn Thompson, Bobby Pease, Frank Thompson, Bruce Painter and Mark Thompson. The kids are decorating their bikes for the bicycle contest, new to the parade this year. Ron Cameron and Tom Busbee will once again announce the parade. The route will be from Glades Central across the Fifth Street bridge, west on Avenue A to Main St., south to Avenue E and west to the Glades Plaza Shopping Center.

Was trash pickup too good?

Trash collection service that was too good in one instance and not good enough in another dominated a portion of the regular meeting of the South Bay City Commission Tuesday night.

Mrs. Sue Woodham said the city should be responsible for picking up some furniture she had had stored against the rear of an apartment she owns on Seventh Avenue.

Sandra Trout, a new tenant in the duplex, said she was moving in the apartment but didn't need the furniture. Mrs. Woodham said she told Mrs. Trout to stack the furniture in the rear and Mrs. Trout went to city hall to ask the furniture not be picked up.

In the meantime, however, either a neighbor or the tenant being evicted asked city employees to pick up the "trash," saying a refrigerator which could prove dangerous to small children should be picked up immediately.

Mrs. Woodham said the furniture was picked up the same day while Mrs. Trout was away from the apartment and her attorney has advised her to ask the commission for restitution.

Malcolm Anderson, replacing City Attorney Allen Everard who is on vacation, said he felt Mrs. Woodham could have been responsible for violating a city ordinance against leaving refrigerators outside. He said the city work crew was only doing its job.

Commissioner O'Neal Walker said he felt Mrs. Woodham should be asking whoever ordered the pickup to replace the furniture.

Later in the meeting, Joseph Lakates of Western Auto asked the commission why his trash had been picked up only twice in the last three months.

"I have just the opposite problem," he said, "from the other lady. I can't get my trash picked up."

The city also had a number of complaints when bids to pave four streets in the city were opened.

The city approved a bid of $3 per square yard from Gold Coast Paving to pave Jimmie Lane Court, Janice Avenue, Northwest Sixth and Northwest Third.

Several residents in the commission chambers voiced objections to paving Northwest Third before some of the other streets in the black section of town although City Manager August Dreessen said there were the streets now ready to pave.

The commissioners said the city would be working on the other streets as soon as it could get to them.

Dogs are problem in South Bay also

A proposed animal control ordinance triggered by a dog mauling a cat last week never got off the ground Tuesday evening as South Bay City Commissioners made no motion after hearing several protest from the audience.

City Manager-Police Chief August Dreessen said he brought the matter before the commission because he believed the number of complaints warranted consideration of an ordinance.

He said the county animal control officers will not come into South Bay unless the city adopts the leash law and went on to say the city hasn't the facilities, and can't afford them, to handle animal control itself.

Dreessen said he has had several complaints during the past week, one of which was from Edna Gallop, manager of the Northmoor Trailer Park on SR80.

Mrs. Gallop's cat was mauled by dogs running loose in the trailer park and when she called police, she was told there was nothing they could do.

Dreessen said later the point would only take action when charges are preferred. He said that otherwise, police have no power to pick up animals.

There have also been reports of people being intimidated by packs of dogs running loose in the city. But when Dreessen proposed the ordinance Tuesday, and said this was the course he endorsed, a number of objections came from the audience.

One man in particular objected to any law allowing authorities to pick up a dog and take it to a shelter with the owner being charged a fee to pick it up.

City Clerk Virginia Walker said the last time a "mass" pickup was made, city residents made a number of calls to city hall. She said they were not equally divided between those favoring the pickups and those objecting.

The county animal control officers have said in the past they will not go into a city to pick up animals unless the city first adopts the leash law which in part relieves the county of responsibility for damages.

The law would require dog owners to have their pets, even if in unlicensed and licensed, fenced in, on a leash or chain or kept in the house.

Commissioner Woodrow "Woody" O'Neal said he remembered the city ordinance applying to animals states that if a dog is in unlicensed and licensed, he has the right to "walk the streets."

"I don't care what kind of law is passed," O'Neal said, "because I keep my dogs penned up. You can do what you want to."

Mrs. Echo Painter shows off the Cathedral design quilt she and other ladies of St. John's Episcopal Church hand stitched for the church's annual bazaar Saturday. The quilt will be raffled off to a lucky winner. Donations are $1 each.

A dog's life

They say every dog has his day but sometimes you'd think people could have theirs too.

When South Bay City Manager August Dreeson threw out the problem of whether the city should adopt a leash law for the city's canines, and it came time for a motion, there was what is sometimes referred to as a pregnant silence.

And make no mistake about it. When you talk about hauling off someone's dog, you'd better be ready to go to war.

Dreeson said he brought up the matter because he felt there had been enough complaints to warrant the city commission's consideration but he said the city couldn't afford the facilities to handle stray dogs on its own.

City Clerk Virginia Walker said the last time a "mass pickup" was held, there were a number of calls to city hall but the callers were split down the middle with half favoring a leash law and half the town's residents opposing it.

The divided feelings were also evident in the commission chambers as a number of views were expressed. Everybody had a definite opinion but opinions were split.

Adding to the problem is the fact that although police can order a dog picked up if it is a nuisance, someone has to swear out a complaint...not a move calculated to win friends among doglovers.

But there's an old saying that your freedom ends where mine begins. That saying should apply here.

If the city can't enforce its own animal laws, as some cities do, adoption of a leash law, which would allow the county to pick up animals within the city limits, should be considered.

Some people believed that Robin Hood could shoot an arrow over a mile.

Kill exemption—Koehler

Dear Sir:

I regret that your press deadline made it impossible for your newspaper to fully consider the reasons offered for removing the so-called "agricultural exemption" from our county's Environmental Control Act.

As I pointed out at the Nov. 20 meeting of the Environmental Management Committee, the exemption creates a county environmental control vacuum over all sources of agricultural pollution in Palm Beach County, not just those of the sugar industry.

I have found nothing in anything Mr. Wedgwood has ever written or said on this subject which justifies the sort of special treatment the sugar industry gets received under the agricultural exemption.

Removal of the exemption will not force farmers out of business or drive the sugar prices any higher than they already are. These are simply horror stories conjured up to obscure the real fact the sugar industry apparently has about the exemption's removal: That it will be forced to answer to local pollution control authorities rather than to those comfortably far away in Tallahassee.

I invite you and your readers to attend the public hearing in the County Commission chambers in West Palm Beach at 9:30 a.m. on Dec. 17 to hear for yourselves both sides of the agricultural exemption argument. That, after all, is the only way to acquire a full understanding of all of the issues involved.

Respectfully,
Dennis P. Koehler, Esquire
Environmental Control Officer
Palm Beach County.

At any rate, the industry is now answerable to the Florida Department of Pollution Control District Office in Fort Myers, although the entire industry geographically comes under the Fort Lauderdale district office, which was responsible for the industry until several months ago.

The regulatory authority was given to the Fort Myers office by Tallahassee more than six months ago, supposedly because the Fort Lauderdale office had too large a work load.

CRACKER CRUMBS
BY DEAN JONES

Break out the longjohns, it could be Milton

Return to Scratchankle!

That could be the name of a sequel to the story that won the award two years ago for the best sports story of the year for non-daily newspapers in the state.

Glenn and I have been watching for some time now as the football season drew to an end and every week, the story were, hanging in there with the top 10 3AA teams in the state.

You remember Milton, don't you? Glenn does. Al Werneke does. Tom Busbee does and I'll bet Carl T. Cone does.

Matter of fact, most of what I remember about Milton, I heard from these guys.

I still remember listening to the game over WSWN and every time Tom, who handles play-by-play, would hand the mike to Carl T., who was handling the color, all Carl T. could talk about was how boddacious cold it was.

And later, there was Glenn, coming back from what he described as Ice Station Zebra, telling of the lovely zephyr breezes playing around his face and how his eyebrows tinkled with dislodged ice every time he took a look at the thermometer trying to set a diving record.

And guess what, Milton is in the playoffs again.

And guess what, if Milton and the Raiders go all the way, you know where they'll be playing?

Milton.

So, when I called Milton's head football coach, Hurley Manning, and asked him how the weather has been in the town formerly known as Scratchankle?

Know what the answer was, Glenn?

"Cold." That's all; just, "Cold!" He said it had been below freezing for three or four nights and was headed that way again Monday night.

But that's all right with me because guess who's already given notice he's gonna cover the Milton game? Go get 'em, Glenn. I'll be keeping the muck warm for you.

Glenn's been chortling the past couple of days about the possibility of a "Return to Milton" story and he's really been needing Al about it. Wonder if Glenn remembers how non-chortling he was when he came back from ol' Scratchankle by way of Atlanta last year?

I will have to admit I took a little sadistic delight in needing Al myself but when I asked him for any on-the-record remarks, he wasn't talking.

Which is sort of odd since he had so many off-the-record remarks...none of which were printable.

Had the same reaction from Tom Busbee. I just couldn't resist throwing that one at him for glee Monday afternoon. Caught him completely by surprise.

Matter of fact, I think I white-eyed him once he realized where his job with WSWN could take him a couple of weeks from now.

Tom, who is principal of Lake Shore Junior High when he isn't broadcasting football all over the Glades, said he almost quit the radio job after the Milton game two years ago but somebody, I think he said Phil Hair, told him, "What the heck. What are the odds of us ever coming back to Milton?"

Speaking of the north, any of you guys who made the trip last year remember how far it is? Seems to me I do remember passing Milton on my vacation last summer...somewhere just this side of Denver and just the other side of Amarillo.

Again, speaking of the north, we've got a relatively new copywriter (who isn't setting this copy by the way) who wrote something the other day which could prove interesting.

Take it away, copywriter.

Ever felt left out or just plain ignored? Well, I do and let me tell you, sometimes I wonder what I am doing at this typewriter all day. Nobody sees me or pays any attention to me. They just off the record

with Glenn Laney

There is a popular song of recent vintage which has the phrase in it, "going back to Houston, Houston, Houston."

And while I didn't quite sound like old Dino on the phone the other day Glades Central football coach Al Werneke got the message when I paraphrased that little ditty by singing to him "going back to Milton, Milton, Milton!"

"I ain't goin'!" was his quick retort.

I don't really blame him. There is a small, select-amount unique group of people in the Glades. This group took a trip nobody else did. This group travelled to the frozen north to "Scratchankle," Florida.

Scratchankle is now Milton, Florida, and Milton, Florida, was the site of the AAA state football championship two years ago.

Since Glades Central was the best team from the south and Milton was the best team from the north, Belle Glade got the singular honor of travelling some 700 miles to play a high school football game.

We figured it out that year, Milton, Florida, is closer to Terra Haute, Indiana, than it is to Belle Glade! Don't believe me, geography buffs? Look it up!

Anyway, if Milton and Belle Glade should be the two teams that meet in the state championship again this year, guess where the game is going to be played.

Oh, you clever devils you. That's right—Milton!

You see, each year the championship game shifts from north to south. Two years ago it was the north's teams turn to host the championship. That is why the game was played in Milton.

Last year it was the south's teams turn. This year it's time to go north again.

Of course, this may be jumping the gun a bit. Belle Glade still has to beat two tough teams to get to Milton—if indeed Milton can win two tough games as well.

Belle Glade plays Hollywood Chaminade Friday night. Milton plays Starke.

If the two teams survive the opening round, Belle Glade will play either Tampa or Jesuit, while Milton will more than likely face Ocala Forest.

Two years ago when I went to there from my college days, Al Leonard and his wife Millie—both college cohorts—lived in Milton. Al ran the local paper. His wife Millie—probably a better journalist than either one of us—was busy at home getting ready to have a baby.

Al decided to chuck journalism and go back to Law School at the University of Florida. Millie went with him.

I've told Dean he can cover any playoff game he wants, but if we go back to Milton I've got to make the trip.

It was difficult enough to get there. And once I got there I really didn't want to stay—dog-gone it was cold. But the game was worth it and the story I did from it brought me a first place statewide award for "Best Sports Story for a non-daily."

The trip to and from Milton was an adventure in itself. Believe it or not you had to go through Atlanta, Ga., to get to Milton—well, not really to Milton.

That only got you to Pensacola and then you had to rent a car to get the rest of the way to Milton. That's of course unless you wanted

That's of course unless you wanted to fly up in a private plane right to Milton. But I heard to many hairy stories of flying into the typical north Florida winter weather to want to trust private flying.

And it was rational. Actually it had been a rather mild winter until the day of the game. Then the temperature started crashing down to the freezing mark. Some people swear they saw snow flurries during the game.

I don't know. I was too busy trying to keep warm along the sidelines to decide whether it was snowing or not.

But the victory made it all worth while. And I am sure, that if we should have to return to good ole Scratchankle—we will return home with another victory.

It's just too far to travel to lose!

and enjoy being around people. I am working as a typesetter at this newspaper, which is a challenging and interesting job. I was born and raised in Ohio, although I only moved to St. and I think I'm done growing. Anyway, I just wanted to say that the people in Belle Glade have been extremely kind to me since I came here. The only thing I can really hope for is that someone will someday go to Ohio and say the same thing about us.

Belle Glade residents should be proud of their town. It is nice and may I say, comfortable. You have made me feel at home and I wish to thank you.

Now remember, the next time you find a mistake in the typing of the newspaper, don't yell at me cause you don't know me, right? (signed) Yankee

What Yankee (by the way, don't yell at me with a "Y"? I do) didn't know at the time she wrote her little message was that it would go in the Herald.

Couple of things she didn't tell you too.

Along with being 21, single and possessing a fair personality and a sense of humor, Yankee's mighty easy to look at too.

Now for the bad news. She may be single as a one-wheel bicycle but she has a definitely jealous boyfriend. Sorry about that you guys.

Sewer woes aired

Because the city has had a large number of problems and recently stopped connections to the system, and the fact the system was completed behind schedule, the city hasn't received the expected number of hookups and the money resulting from those hookups.

Mayor Vernita Cox, at the suggestion of Commissioner

Woodrow "Woody" O'Neal, directed Mrs. Walker to set up a meeting with Jones and the city would invite the public to hear the reason for the hikes.

Jones had written Mrs. Walker that the hikes would need to be effective no later than Dec. 1 to raise sufficient revenue pledged to cover the expense.

While discussing the rate hike, it was pointed out that a proposed suit still hasn't been filed against the city's engineers and the deadline for filing the action would be Dec. 15.

That is the date the one-year warranty of the system lapses. While the commissioners were talking about impending litigation, Mrs. Walker and City Attorney Allen Eversard, who is handling the action, is on vacation.

If you've already read Dean and Glenn's column and the story on the Home Front, I'm sure you don't want to hear another epilogue about the possibility of the Raiders going back to "Scratchankle" for the final state playoff game (if they make it through the first two games).

Will mention a few things though. Glades Central is only a little over four years old and this is the fourth time out of five years they have gotten to the playoffs.

And one thing that's been overlooked, this is also the fourth time the Raiders will face Chaminate in the first playoff game. The year Glades Central was born, the Raiders made it to the first playoff but succumbed to Chaminate.

The next two years, however, they defeated their playoff rival and won the state championship for two consecutive years until letting the Atlantic High School Eagles take over for a season (1973-74) and now they're back at it again.

And if they win these first two—watch out "Scratchankle!" Of course Glenn has already told Dean he could cover the playoff games, but if it boiled down to a rivalry between Glades Central and Milton, he was going to cover it.

Not even the cold can keep him away. But I have a feeling Glenn wasn't as cold as he tries to make it out to be, no, he had his ways of keeping warm, eh, Glenn?

Personally, I think Dean brought to go. After all, that's his kind of weather. It could be 30 degrees below zero and he'd say "Cold, you've got to be kidding, you're cold?"

Maybe if the game was played in Alaska he could go.

After a little bit of heart failure the week before last when the Miami Dolphins lost to the New York Jets, they clinched at least a wild card spot in the American Football Conference playoffs by trouncing the Cincinnati Bengals 24-3.

Now they are tied with Buffalo for the lead in the eastern division, but if the two teams wind up with identical records, the Dolphins would be champs in their division.

That would mean they would have to face the Oakland Raiders in the first round of playoffs—at the Oakland field.

That's really a disadvantage for Miami—they haven't beaten Oakland yet on the Oakland field. There seems to be a jinx somehow. I hope they can break it this time. I'd really rather see them play Pittsburgh first than Oakland though.

Fearless Leader's favorite team, the Washington Redskins, have a very good chance of making the playoffs, and Glenn seems to think there might be a re-match of Super Bowl VII.

No chance. Even if by some miracle the Redskins did make it to the Super Bowl (and it would have to be a miracle) they'd get scalped and held up for trophies by Miami.

Pick another team, Glenn.

Raiders place

eight on all-conference

Glades Central, Atlantic and Pahokee dominated the all-conference team as the Super Bad Raiders placed eight players on the team while Atlantic placed sixth and Pahokee placed five.

Raider coach Al Werneke was selected as "Coach of the Year" for the West Conference.

The Raiders were led by the defensive unit which placed David Jones, Cornelius Brown, Charles Small and safety Anthony Parrish.

The offensive unit had Anthony Burgess, Lester Finney, Clark Lloyd and Haddall Collins.

Raiders who received Honorable Mention were: Calvin Willis, David Kinlaw, Dickey Sweet, Charles Ford, and Rigo Ruiz. Pahokee had Remmie Johnson, Terry Murvin, Eugene Babb, Harold Pringle and quarterback Velson Banks.

Christian Day
loses final

The Christian Day School Crusaders lost their final game of the season to St. Edwards of Vero Beach 26-0. The Crusaders went into the game with three starters out and, with people playing out of position, could never generate much on offense.

St. Edwards countered with a touchdown in each quarter of the game, the second being a 45 yard punt return.

The crusaders ended the season 1-7 and Coach Sullivan says with more people participating in the program we can greatly improve that record next year.

Player of the Week

Two minutes and a generally ferocious, defensive effort against Pahokee two weeks ago earned Glades Central defensive tackle David Jones the Channel 12 Player of the Week Award last week.

Channel 12 Sports Director Jim Gallagher made the announcement and presentation to Jones on his Athlete of the Week sports program on Nov. 25.

"Jones is a defensive tackle, and made 15 tackles in a recent game against Pahokee," a sport release concerning the award said. "Six foot, five inches, he is definitely All-State material."

Jones was awarded a special trophy on the program, which is sponsored by 19 Kentucky Fried Chicken stores located throughout the area.

Raiders meet

Chaminate

in playoff

The Glades Central Raiders will meet the Hollywood Chaminate "Lions" in the regional playoff game at South Broward football field on Friday, Dec. 6, at 6 p.m.

The Super Bad Raiders meet Lions of Chaminate after South Plantation edged by Plantation 20-19 in a bitter fought contest last Friday night. This loss plus Hollywood's Chaminate victory of Miami Pace 26-14 gave the Lions their fourth playoff game in five years.

It will also be the Raiders' fourth game in five years. The Raiders lost to Lions 25 to 13 in 1970, they defeated the Lions 31-0 in 1971 and edged by the Lions 26-6 in 1972. Neither team made the play-offs in 1973.

This game will pit the Chaminate running game against the fire-eating Raiders' defense.

For Rogers a 5'7" 165 lb. halfback has gained over 500 yards for the Lions this season. Kempe leads the Lions in just about every running statistic.

The Lions are the Super Bad Raiders statistics for the 1974 season.

THE CHRISTIAN DAY SCHOOL CRUSADERS ENDED SECOND ...sanctioned season with a 26-0 loss to St. Edwards of Vero Beach.

...it will perform in two Christmas oriented programs in next few days

Drill team to be in programs

The Christian Day School Drill Team will be performing in Christmas oriented programs during the next two weekends, both in Belle Glade and on the coast.

The drill team will be one of the marching units in the Third Annual Christmas Parade Saturday at 2 p.m. and will be led by Leatrice Goforth.

Some of the team members will also be performing in the Christmas Parade in Dixie Championship contest the following Saturday, Dec. 14, in Lake Worth.

The drill team is in its second year of existence at Christian Day School and it is under the direction of Mrs. Rita Cunningham.

Team members twirl one baton, two-batons, and flags and some of the more advanced members are twirling fire batons.

The 90 members performed in West Palm Beach at the half time show of the Christian

Day-Kings Academy football game earlier in the season.

The high school students performed at most of the half time shows this year.

Free courses offered

The Heart Association is offering two free courses in December for Palm Beach and Martin County nurses at Palm Beach Junior College.

On Dec. 2 and 3, there will be a workshop on advanced electrocardiography, and on Dec. 5-11, a symposium on coronary care for the L.P.N. will be held.

Miss Donna Harden, R.N., will instruct the courses, which will be held from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The advanced electrocardiography workshop is open to R.N.'s and L.P.N.'s. A prerequisite for the course is the successful completion of a four-week certified coronary care course.

The purpose of the advanced electrocardiography course, according to Miss Harden, is to expand and sophisticate the expertise of the specialized nurse in the fields of electrophysiology and coronary care.

To register for the courses, contact the Heart Association, 205 Datura Street, West Palm Beach or call 655-8155, 278-7222 (south county), or 546-3555 (Martin county).

PLAY IT COOL

A Seattle man decided to heat up a pressure can because the flow of the contents was sluggish. The top blew off, struck the man in the face and cut off his nose. In New York State, an attendant at a village incinerator opened the door to stoke the fire. A spray can exploded and destroyed one of his eyes. In Ohio, a man put an aerosol container onto a pile of burning leaves. It exploded, hurling a silver of debris into the man's leg, slashing an artery and causing him to bleed to death. In San Diego, a man put an aerosol paint can into a pan of boiling water. The can exploded and the man lost the sight of his left eye. In Virginia, a 4-year-old boy's eye was injured when a spray starch can exploded in a backyard incinerator.

There are many unique ways of getting injured by exploding aerosol cans. The morale is keep them away from heat or you'll have an unguided aerosol missile. Play it cool with pressure cans!

Scratchhankle here we come!!

SCRATCHHANKLE'S COLD CUT TO THE NONE
...cheerleaders were not dressed for the freeze

Dig out the longhorns and contest the nearest travel agency, Raider fans. We could be going back to Scratchhankle. Remember Scratchhankle? Most people know it as Milton nowadays but there are some people in Belle Glade who have other names for it such as Chiblain, Frothing, or Arctic, Fla.

Most of the other names are as unprintable as Raider Coach Al Werneke's off-the-record comments.

Werneke made no comments for the record.

Both Werneke and Milton head coach Hurley Manning pointed out that both teams would have to eliminate two other teams before a "Return to Milton" could become possible.

While Milton puts its 8-2 season on the line against Starke, who has a 9-1 record, for the Region 1 playoff, Glades Central goes up against, naturally, Chaminade Friday night.

This will be the fourth time in five years the Raiders have battled it out with the Hollywood school. Chaminade won in the first bout, forcing the Raiders out of the 1970 playoffs.

That was Glades Central's first season and Chaminade was the first team ever to defeat a Raider squad.

The Raiders went on the next two years to defeat Chaminade in both playoffs on their way to two consecutive state championships in 1971 and 1972.

Oddly enough, Chaminade, Glades Central and Milton were all edged out of the playoffs by other teams in each district.

Coch Werneke said the Raiders had worked all week last week in preparation for meeting Plantation only to have Plantation lose its last game of the season against Plantation South, along with the District Championship.

"That was a wasted week," Werneke said.

He went on to comment that although Chaminade has a "good little running back" in Joe Kemp, he doesn't believe the Chaminade team has the all-around speed. "They have a tough defense," he went on, "but we feel we're a little quicker and more defensive." Werneke said Chaminade always has a good, well-coached football club and pointed out Chaminade's only loss came in the last minutes of the game against South Broward.

Should the Raiders defeat Chaminade, they would then have a chance to play the winner of the Tampa-Jessett playoff game in Belle Glade.

But if they win the semi-final playoff, and if Milton wins its first two games, the Raiders will have to invade the north again.

Besides the final score of 14-7, which handed the Raiders the state championship, most Glades Central rooters who made it to Milton primarily remember the cold.

And the weather as of Monday.

"Cold," Milton coach Hurley Manning exclaimed. "It's been below freezing the past three or four nights and it's supposed to get down there again tonight. From Manning's description of the Milton team, they must be approximately the same type of team as the Raiders. He said Paul Wesley, the 6'2", 190-pound fullback who played against the Raiders in 1972, is still on the team, having a basically ground-oriented team.

During the last four games, however, Manning said Milton has taken to the air with a 60 per cent effectiveness and approximately 500 passing yards.

On defense, the Milton interior line is bolstered by 6'4", 243-pound middle guard Doug Winslow, 6' 3", 250-pound tackle Russell Meek and 6'2", 210-pound tackle Rodney Hodson.

"We don't really know how good our depth is," Manning said, "because, while we've had a couple of boys bruised up and had to run in substitutes, the teams we were playing at the time weren't all that tough."

He said two players on his team are out for the playoffs but one has been out for three weeks and the other for four weeks.

"There's no such thing as a weak sister at this point," he said. "We're travelling to Stark and we'll just take it one game at a time."

School woes to be discussed

The Glades Central School Advisory Committee will hold its second meeting at 8 p.m. tonight in the Glades Central High School Main Library according to secretary Gloria Kaleva.

The committee was formed of members of the community, the school faculty and students to discuss and attempt to solve school problems with the aid of the community.

During their first meeting, members of the committee suggested organizing a parent teacher organization and a career day for the students such as was held in the Palm Beach Mall recently.

Discussion centered around social passing and overcrowded classrooms due to deleted units of study.

Mrs. Kaleva said Mrs. Mary Orsenigo was chosen chairman of the group and the Rev. Charles Robinson was chosen co-chairman while Mrs. Kaleva was chosen secretary.

Representing parents and the community on the committee are Mrs. Orsenigo, Rev. Robinson, James Woodham, Mrs. Gertha Jennings, Mrs. Ida Mizell, Lee Berryhill and City Commissioner Tom Altman.

Faculty members are Mrs. Kaleva, Ed Browning, Willie Pyfrom, Mrs. Pat Murray and Wayne Wilkins.

Students on the committee are senbtr Artie Ford and sophomore Paula Lockett.

Contest, picnic scheduled

A Mack Picnic and Contest, featuring the music of three bands and the singing of Melvin Carter of Memphis, Tenn., are being staged Christmas Day by Jackson-Williams Productions.

The activities will begin at 1 p.m. Dec. 25 with a Mack Softball Game and Picnic at the Lake Shore Civic Center and will wind up at the Elks Lodge 1820 with the award for the Mack costumes at the contest and dance.

Providing music at the contest will be Beneath the Earth for Boynton Beach, Peace Unlimited from the Glades and The Dynamics of Miss. Carter will be star vocalist for the evening.

The contest will also include free parking for automobiles with a doorman to take the cars at the entrance.

Food and drinks will be offered at the picnic and food will be available at the contest that evening, with the festivities beginning at 9 p.m.

Tickets are on sale at Nate's Record Shop and the contest entry fee is $10 per person. Tickets to the dance will cost $6 for singles and $9 for couples. Contest entries will close Dec. 23 and further information can be obtained by calling 995-2222 or 995-7825.

Sugar substitute planned

The high price of sugar will begin hitting close to home for Glades elementary students next month when their school lunches get a little less sweet.

Palm Beach County School Director of School Food Services Jane Lansing said this week school cafeterias will begin using substitutes in areas where the high price of sugar is a factor.

Examples she gave in the substitutions will come on Dec. 3 when peaches replace a cake square and on Dec. 6 when upside down cake is replaced by pineapple slices.

Likewise, though the month orange juice will be used instead of cake and cake will again be replaced by half an apple on Dec. 18, a cookie has been stipulated as a peanutbutter cookie because peanut butter cookies use less sugar.

Thank you, dear Lord

Thanksgiving means a lot of things to a lot of people. To some people, it's a day to take stock and thank their deity for their blessings of the past year. Thanksgiving to some people is another good day to get a case of beer and go fishing, or wax the car or get in that extra round of golf and to restaurant employees it's an extra-heavy workday. But to kids...at, to kids, Thanksgiving is Turkey Day and Turkey Day was celebrated in several schools in the Glades, such as the Methodist Kindergarten and St. Peter's Lutheran as shown here.

Home program started locally

The Palm Beach County Association for Retarded Children is beginning a home training program for children who have developmental problems from the ages of birth to five years.

The home training program is in conjunction with the pre-school class located at 714 N.W. Second St. in Belle Glade and although some children are in both programs, this isn't a requirement.

Mrs. Mary Burton opened the home program Monday and said she is available to come into homes weekly to help the parents work with their children.

"In some cases," Mrs. Burton said, "the parent doesn't know how to work with the child or they may not realize anything is wrong."

"We have one girl there," she said, "whose muscles were completely limp when she first came. Now, she can raise up and sit when she's braced."

"That may not sound like much," Mrs. Burton went on, "but it's progress."

The program is funded through the state Division of Health and Rehabilitative Services, Mrs. Burton said, and she stressed both the home training and the pre-school class are free.

Any questions about either program should be directed to Mrs. Burton or Mrs. Peggy Atkinson.

Adult ed classes to begin

Registration for the winter term of Glades Central Adult and Community Education program will begin Monday for current students and Dec. 16 for new students.

Current student registration will be Monday through Thursday from 9:30 to 9:45 p.m. and new students can register Dec. 16-19 at the same hours. Late registration and testing will take place the same hours but on Jan. 6-9.

The winter term begins Jan. 15, 1975 and ends April 24. Students may enroll in the program to complete their high school education, prepare for GED exams or take courses of general interest.

For further information, call Glades Central Annex at 995-8216. Counseling services are available.

Christmas concert is set

The public is invited to attend the annual Christmas Concert, sponsored by the Music Department at Palm Beach Junior College, Tuesday at 8 p.m. Dec. 10 in the PBJC Auditorium, Miss Letha Madge Royce, chairman, announced.

An earlier concert for students and faculty will be presented at 9:10 a.m. The PBJC Concert Choir and Pansies directed by Mrs. Pat Johnson, and the Concert Band and Jazz Ensemble, under the direction of Sy Pryweller, will perform music in the spirit of Christmas.

Included in the program will be LeRoy Anderson's "Christmas Festival," "Almighty Father's Chorus" from Leonard Bernstein's Mass, "Alleluia," by Alfred Reed, and "Suite of Christmas Carols" arranged by Martin Gould. There is no admission charge for the concert, Miss Royce said.

DR. JAMES B. BUSKIRK TO PREACH HERE
...during Community United Methodist meeting

Buskirk to preach at special services

Dr. James B. Buskirk, Professor of Evangelism at Candler School of Theology, Emory University, is to be the preacher and resource person for special evangelistic services at the Community United Methodist Church, Dec. 15-17.

Dr. Buskirk, who served as a pastor in the North Mississippi Conference, is in great demand as a speaker at camps and conferences. Since 1967 he has preached every year for the Layman's Conference at Lake Junaluska Assembly.

He has been the platform speaker for the Candler Camp Meeting, and has taught the workshop on preaching, and led in the youth sessions at the Assembly.

Out of his years of service in the field of Evangelism has come a program of creative ministry he calls, "Motivation for Ministry."

This program calls persons to Christian Commitment and then to community ministry, individually and collectively as a speaker at camps and conferences. Every age group is included in this thrust.

The program will begin with a Methodist Men's breakfast at 7 Sunday morning. After meeting with the men, Mr. Buskirk will meet with adult Sunday School classes, preach at both worship services, and meet with the youth at 8 p.m. and with middle adults and parents of teenagers at 8:45 p.m.

Monday there will be a ladies luncheon at noon, youth happening at 6 p.m., worship at 7:30, and a meeting with young adults and parents of pre-teens at 8:45.

Tuesday he will meet with the Golden Age group at 10 a.m., the Council on Ministries at 8 p.m., and worship service at 7:30. The community is invited to attend.

Gospel Dimensions to sing

The Gospel Dimensions, a group of seven accomplished musicians, will have a concert of Gospel music at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Community United Methodist Church.

The group, which has travelled extensively in the Eastern part of the United States, has been engaged to perform at the Ft. Lauderdale shopping Mall on Saturday, and will be appearing in church in the vicinity in the evenings.

The public is invited to attend the concert at the Community United Methodist Church.

Dinner to follow play

Sunday evening, Dec. 8, the Community United Methodist Church is having a family night covered dish dinner in Jannet Hall at 6 p.m., followed by the presentation by members of the church of a Christmas play entitled, "Why Christmas"

It's nice to see a headline about a good kid—because that's what most of them are.

Of course, his parents worry about him. That's one of the reasons he is a good kid. He's had plenty of opportunity to learn how much they love him... how much they care.

They have given him many things, some at considerable sacrifice to themselves. Fortunately, though, their giving didn't end with material gifts.

They have given him ideals... standards... principles. These are the intangible treasures that you aren't likely to acquire if you didn't find them at home.

And they have given him a faith. It was their faith first. At home and in church they shared it with him. Out of it the ideals and standards and principles naturally grew.

Yes. He's a good kid—due to the Lord.

GRAN PARADA DE NAVIDAD

El próximo sábado día 7, tendremos en nuestra comunidad este evento que nos ayudará a entrar mas en esta época del año, tan especial para todos los cristianos.

Grupos cívicos y religiosos se unirán a esta parada.

Hora: 2:00 p.m.
Downtown Belle Glade
Avenue A & S.W. Main Street

Preparandonos para la NAVIDAD

...Al publicar las líneas de esta poesía esperamos que este no sea nuestro caso. Que las líneas que escribe Rafael Matos, no retraten nuestra condición.

...El motivo de las Navidades es Cristo. La natividad del Niño que cambio nuestras suertes y nuestras esperanzas en la vida. El Niño, que devolvió la dignidad al hombre y lo reconcilió con Dios.

NO HAY LUGAR PARA CRISTO

La fiesta de todos...Navidad...llego,
Y todos se aprestan para celebrar
La fiesta del niño que en Belén nació...
Pero para el niño no hay un lugar!

Se adorna la casa, el bello arbolito,
Derroche de luces, regalos a mil;
Todos muy alegres, mas, donde esta el Cristo?
Notad que no tiene lugar senoril.

Acaso un pesebre con muñecos dentro
Inerte materia, la vil falsedad,
Y a eso le llaman el gran nacimiento,
A eso reducen la gran Navidad.

Se sirve la mesa, el todo es hartarse,
Derroche de vinos, cerveza, licor,
Se come, se bebe hasta emborracharse...
Están celebrando tu fiesta, Señor?

Después de la fiesta, las bajas pasiones
Que al fin se alimentan de carnalidad
Música profana, que ofenden sus sones
Al Santo que es dueño de la Navidad.

Así se celebra la fiesta divina
Entre los que dicen que cristianos son,
Mas son los que nunca ante El se inclinan,
Ni doblan rodillas en adoración.

No han comprendido del cielo el mensaje:
Que vino a la tierra a ser Salvador;
No vino a vestirse de fiesta el ropaje,
No han comprendido de Dios el amor!

Por eso parecen esclavos del vicio,
Pues solo practican mundanalidad,
No hay en sus vidas lugar para Cristo,
Ni aun en la fiesta de la Navidad.

El Nino

Por el Dr. Marcelo Reyes

El mirar a un niño es contemplar la obra inmediata de Dios. Por eso cuando que el pequeño abre sus ojos a la vida se pone de manifiesto su candor, su inocencia, su ingenuidad. El niño es siempre un dechado de virtudes.

La sonrisa de un niño es un amanecer a la vida. Luego, cuando los años pasan, cuando el niño se convierte en hombre, cuando se mezcla con la humanidad, resalta en él la mano del ser humano, mientras se atenua la mano de Dios que lo hizo puro, que lo hizo niño.

Sin embargo, los años podrán pasar, los años se convertirán en adultez, los adultos en ancianos, pero de un extremo a otro de la vida, el niño siempre acompañará al ser humano en la mas recóndita de su alma, como un arco-iris radiante que iluminará los momentos mas amargados de la vida.

Es que Dios es un infante, bondad y misericordia, refugio con el niño acompañante en maravillosas obras del ser humano.

Por eso el crimen mas repugnante es el que se comete contra la pureza, contra la inocencia de un niño. Es como si se atacara a un angel con la persona del veneno.

El niño debe vivir apropiadamente su niñez para luego en su juventud ser un verdadero joven.

Crimen repugnante es, pues, aquel que hace a un niño un niño...a un joven sin juventud. El niño es la expresión sublime del Supremo Creador.

Es una etapa obligada que sirve para superar las tristezas de la vida. Así como todos hemos nacido de una madre, así todos debemos que ser niños antes de ser adultos.

Y que época es tan hermosa, es tan única, es tan sobrenatural por así decirlo, que los rostros son mas duros se suavizan, sonrisas se perfilan en ellos, y lagrimas quedan atrás, cuando se contemplan el rostro de un niño.

Es que los angelitos del paraíso jamás tuvieron rostro arrugado. Siempre han sido representados con caras de niños.

Y para darle un bien tan fundamental como la vida...Dios se re-creó a la humanidad hijo que desde niño suena sin grillos, sin cadenas esclavistas, porque jamás la obra de Dios podrá ser aprisionada por la mano humana. El niño al salir de la eternidad para morar en la tierra vino a ser en la misma forma que estaba allí: LIBRE.

People once believed that a serpent could have a head on each end.

Comida de acción de gracias

Una sencilla, pero significativa comida de Acción de Gracias, se llevo a cabo el pasado día 27 de Noviembre, en la Community United Methodist Church.

En esta ocasión, los miembros y amigos de la Iglesia nos reunimos para en forma muy especial decir gracias a un Dios que nos ama y nos bendice ricamente a diario.

Entre los invitados a nuestra comida se encontraban, el Rev. Padre Pablo Saghy, quien bendijo los alimentos; el Dr. Rolando Espinosa, el que dirigió nuestras oraciones y cantos; y el Rev. Randall Parsons quien condujo la comida, con la bendición. También la Dra. Arminda Mari de Espinosa y Rolando Espinosa Jr. estaban presentes en esta ocasión.

La música especial estuvo a cargo del coro de nuestra Iglesia.

Fue una ocasión en la cual sentimos y experimentamos la alegría de participar con tantos buenos amigos, y de una vez mas probar que el amor de Dios nos une a todos en ocasiones como esta en la cual el motivo fue de dar gracias al más noble Dios Creador y Padre de todos.

LP Gas saves you money

LP Gas will cook almost 2 meals with the same amount of original energy it takes to cook 1 meal electrically.

Gas Cooking
Electric Cooking

LP Gas will dry about three and one-third loads of clothes with the same amount of original energy it takes to dry 1 load electrically.

Gas Clothes Dryer
Electric Clothes Dryer

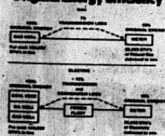

LP Gas will heat about two and one-half gallons of water with the same amount of original energy it takes to heat 1 gallon electrically.

Gas Water Heating
Electric Water Heating

LP Gas comes to you straight-no inefficient conversion to another type of fuel. It's pure energy, in its cleanest, most efficient form. With gas 93 percent of the original energy comes into your home, ready for direct use in your gas appliances. So you can see, very little is used in delivery to you. On the other hand, around here, most electric power is generated from burning coal, and some oil and natural gas. And only about 28 percent of the original energy is delivered to you as electricity. Obviously, most of the original energy is lost when converted into electrical power. See chart below.

Original Energy Efficiency

Gas Energy Efficiency

100% of original energy is delivered to the gas burner.

Electric Energy Efficiency

Only 28% of the original energy is delivered to the electric burner. The chart shows losses at three stages: Generation (approx. 65% efficiency), Transmission (approx. 95% efficiency), and Distribution (approx. 95% efficiency).

SOME PEOPLE KNOW ENOUGH TO KEEP THEIR MOUTHS SHUT
...and one would wonder if this largemouth hunker ever got the idea.

If that ain't a mouthful!

Editor's note: With the Lake Okechobee Bass Fishing Contest just finished, we thought our readers might like to see just how far largemouth hunkers will go. Could give you an idea for bait the next time around.

Lakeland-The old adage of the "eye being bigger than the stomach" proved a disaster for one particular Florida largemouth hunker, according to a Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission Fisheries Management Specialist.

Specialist Ken Jones was sampling fish population on Lake Thonotosassa near Tampa when a seven pound bass bobbed to the surface near his boat. When the bass didn't attempt to escape, Jones picked the fish out of the water.

He found the bass had a one-pound Nile perch (tilapia) lodged in its mouth. According to Jones, the dorsal fin of the perch was angled in such a manner that neither fish could free itself after the strike. The result was that the bass, unable to get oxygen through his gills, died of suffocation.

Jones said that any Florida bass fisherman could tell you that a largemouth bass will eat almost anything—anything it can swallow, that is. A bass's diet will include insects, frogs, snakes, turtles, mice or even small ducklings.

At one time, columbine leaves were considered a cure for jaundice and sore throat.
